Examiner's Amendment and Allowable Subject Matter

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.
2. Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. James Scheller on 3/6/06.
3. The application has been further amended as follows:
Claims 42-48 and 66-72 have been cancelled.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art made of record fails to anticipate or make obvious the claimed invention. Specifically, the prior art fails to teach:

the method comprising receiving a blank writeable media into a drive system which is coupled to the data processing system (DPS), receiving, through a GUI, an instruction to write first data on the blank writeable media and delaying execution of the instruction until a command to eject the blank writeable media and receiving through the GUI the command to eject the blank writeable media from the drive system wherein upon the receiving of the command to eject, the DPS writes the first data on the blank writeable media as recited in claims 1, 25 and 4; the method comprising receiving a blank one-time writeable media into a drive system which is coupled to the DPS, displaying automatically in response to the receiving and on a display device coupled to the DPS, a prompt to a user with at least three selectable options, the three options allow the user to: (1) eject the blank once writeable media from the drive system or (2) use the blank once writeable media in the drive system and (3) launch an audio CD creation program as recited in claim 38 and 62.

Although Keller et al., Kurashina et al. and Screen Dumps of Microsoft Word in combination teach a substantial amount of the claimed matters, Keller et al., Kurashina et al. and Screen Dumps of Microsoft Word in combination fail to anticipate or render the above specifically the italicized portions obvious.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
